RANDALL KNIVES

Rare, Unique & Experimental

Turner Publishing Company is pleased to present the third volume by author/collector Robert E. Hunt, in his original collector's series on Randall Made Knives. Randall Knives: Rare, Unique & Experimental introduces over 100 exceptional and unusual models of W.D. Randall, many either made or designed by him.

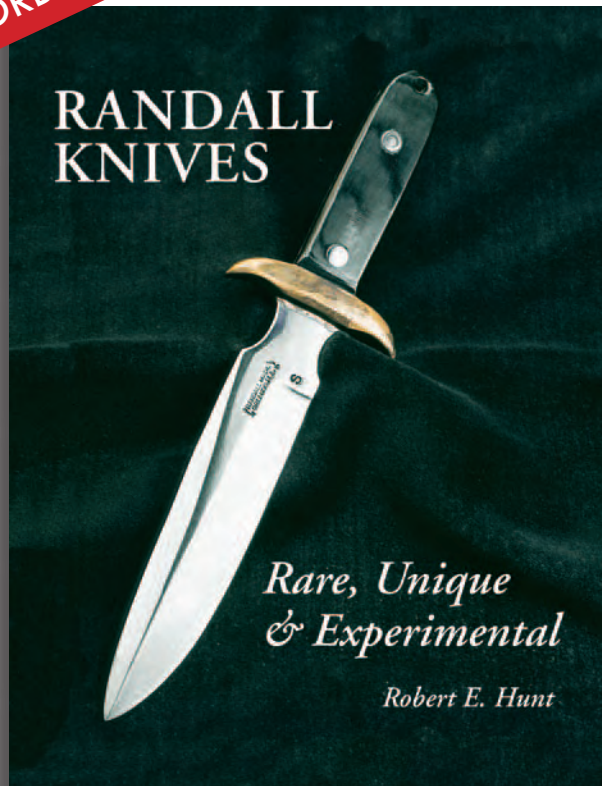

The initial section explores knives from the Randall Museum, where over 50 images reflect the commitment to design innovation, which was and is still today, a hallmark of Randall Made Knives. Although not commonly seen, even though displayed in open cases at the Randall Museum in Orlando, this publication presents many of those unique types in a singular setting out of the case, where they can be viewed and appreciated for their various styles and relevant significance.

The second section contains knives from a private collection uncovered by the author. The preservation of this collection in its original state, shows the care and interest taken in their ownership over the intervening 40 years. The period of their design and production, the mid-1960s, was a time of experimentation with survival types, full-tang designs and more, which are both reflected and represented in this volume. Interestingly enough, the knives in this grouping have roots in some of the "museum" examples, and various designs can be found in Randall early "experiments" displayed in the museum cases.

Also featured is an assortment of other rare and unusual knives, collected, compiled and exhibited in interesting arrangements, representing those knives that can't lay claim to The Museum or notable private collections, but reside in the knife draws of Randall collectors of varied interests and persuasions, while carrying many of the unique design features of the former depictions.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR... Robert Hunt is a former Massachusetts State Police Officer who retired with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, spanning a career of more than 20 years. A subsequent career as the Director of the Smith & Wesson Academy resulted in expanding that Law Enforcement Training Center into the largest private school of its kind. His 16-year tenure as Director was highlighted by coordinating Field School training for police and security personnel through the U.S., and many ventures around the world. Parallel commitments included eight years service as President of the International Association of Firearms Instructors. Hunt now holds the distinction of being an honorary life member. The author's 39-year career as a professional Training Director was augmented by a Master's Degree in Public Administration and graduation from the FBI National Academy. The author maintains a sizeable and important collection of Randall Knives and offers insights into collecting on his informative website: www.randallcollector.com.
